SPELLING BEE

On Dec. 7, there will be an old fashioned spelling match in Assembly Hall beginning at 7:30 P. M. There will be three contests. The funds derived will go to the Library.

The first will be the ladies against the men. All ladies who are willing to enter the contest will please hand their names to Miss Filler. Men will give their names to Mr. J. A. Wright or Mr. Shappell. Twenty-five contestants are desired for each side with five substitutes.

The second contest will be arranged by selecting a champion for each sex and having the champions choose their contestants regardless of sex. The third contest will be to select the best individual speller without selecting sides. This will be done by having all contestants stand up in a row and spelling words as their turn comes. Each contestant to fit down as soon as he or she misses a word. The last person standing will be considered the winner of this contest.

Supt. L. H. Hinkle will be the schoolmaster. Judges—Mr. Hinkle, President. Miss Emily Statler for the men, J. A. Wright for the ladies.

Names to be handed in not later than Dec. 1. Admission 25c.

WELL KNOWN CITIZEN PASSES AWAY HERE

Harrison Hartley died at his home on East Pitt street this place on Friday, November 16, 1923 at the age of 79 years, 6 months and 27 days. Recently he had returned to his home from a hospital at York where he had undergone an operation and treatment with apparent success, but later he suffered a relapse and sank rapidly until death claimed him.

Mr. Hartley was a son of John and Lucy Ann (Mackey) Hartley long since deceased and was born at Mount Dallas on April 19, 1844.

On October 9, 1867 he was united in marriage with Sarah Ellen Nicodemus, to which union the following children survive: Harry W. and Miss Grace L. Hartley at home, Mrs. Harry C. Morgart and Frank H. Hartley of York, Pa., and Miss Margaret E. Hartley of Pittsburgh. He is also survived by two brothers and three sisters: Edwin Hartley of Snake Spring Valley; John G. Hartley of Philadelphia, Mrs. Emma McAtee of Philadelphia, Mrs. Sara A. Miller of Williamsport, and Mrs. Clarence E. Howard of Orlando, Fla.

Funeral services were conducted at his late residence, Monday, November 19, at 2 o'clock by his pastor, Rev. W. H. B. Carney, assisted by the Rev. J. Albert Elyer. Interment was made at the Bedford cemetery.

Mr. Hartley was a well known and esteemed citizen of our town and was a consistent member of the Lutheran Church. His father founded the Hartley Bank in 1872, the oldest banking house in Bedford County.

NOTICE—PUBLIC MEETING

The School Board has called a special Public Meeting for Wednesday evening at 8:15 o'clock in the Assembly Hall for the purpose of explaining to the public what has been done in the matter of the School Building Program and to discuss with the public the present status of the program. A great many people have been wondering about the bond issue and the building program and this will give everyone an opportunity to learn first hand and to ask questions regarding the building program. A good deal of progress has been made and the program is slowly going forward. Every public spirited citizen is interested in the schools and especially the parents whose children are in the schools. Every community organization is urged to have representatives present to speak for the different organizations, and all patrons are urged to attend. It will be a public and open forum to acquaint the public with the conditions of the schools.

NEWS OF THE BOROUGH SCHOOLS

During the past two weeks a number of cases of Scarlet Fever have developed among the school children. The conditions of this disease are approaching an epidemic stage and the greatest care should be taken to break up the ravages of the disease. At the present time eleven children are out of school either sick with or quarantined on account of sore throat. There are also several cases of Diphtheria. The schools are making every effort to enforce the quarantine restrictions and the public ought to take definite steps so that quarantine will be strictly enforced. In this way contagious and infectious diseases can soon be wiped out.

School attendance has been good during the second school month. The students have been engaged in regular class work and have done splendidly. There has been considerable activity in Literary work in both grades and high school. On Nov. 9th, the High School held an open meeting in the evening which was well patronized. The feature of the program was a short play "How the Story Grew."

The schools have also conducted a candy sale and have raised a good deal of money which has been put to use in buying books, pictures and in the high school the money was given to the Athletic Association. Last week a subscription campaign for the Ladies Home Journal was conducted in a casual way and the nice sum of $37.50 realized for the school.

Of course the Lyceum Course, sponsored by the schools has already proven a splendid success. The first number, "Defeat the Magician", was received with the greatest praise and heartily enjoyed. The net proceeds for the course to date exceeds the $165 mark. The proceeds of the course will be given to the New Building Equipment Fund.

This afternoon the Freshmen will conduct a Literary in the Assembly Hall. The exercises will begin at 2:45. The public is invited. Do not forget the big Foot-Ball game to be played here at 2:30 on Thanksgiving day. The Defiance H. S. has defeated the Saxton team. Bedford's record of last Saturday, and is looking for the championship of the county. Bedford and Defiance are well matched and the game promises to be a real one.

BEDFORD H. S. WINS 19-7

Last Saturday the Bedford High School gridlers clashed with Saxton on the latter's field in one of the best and snappiest games ever played with the Bedford boys. The two teams are very well matched and both teams played splendidly. The game was full of thrills and spectacular plays.

The Bedford boys received the ball from the kick-off but soon lost it to the opponents. The Broad Toppers threatened to score in the first few minutes, getting the ball to Bedford's 25-yard line. The Bedford players got possession of the ball and punted it out of danger. A punting duel followed with Bedford gaining the advantage. Consistent playing featured throughout the first quarter and the beginning of the second quarter. Toward the end of the second quarter the Bedford boys worked into a steady state gaining ground consistently and carried the ball to Saxton's 20 yard line. There the Saxton boys put up a stout defense and no ground was gained on two successive downs. After the third down Koontz got loose on an end run and carried the ball across the goal line for the first score. O'Shea kicked the goal shortly after and the half was up with the score 7-0 in favor of Bedford.

In the second half the Saxton backs tore through the line for steady gains and early in the third period a Saxton back tore through the line, got into an open field, and ran 30 yards for a score. They made the goal from touchdown, thus tying the score 7-7. Then followed a real contest with Bedford having the advantage. The ball was carried to Saxton's 20 yard line and it seemed as though Bedford would have to yield the ball to the opponents. A center rush trick play was called with Koontz carrying the ball, and the play so bewildered the Saxton players that after Koontz broke through the center of the line he had an open field for the second score.

Then Saxton again made a supreme effort to tie the score and opened up with forward passes. One of these, however, went amiss. Bernard Arnold intercepting it and carrying it for Bedford's third and final score. The game ended soon after this score.

There will not be a game for the local team this Saturday because of the contest for Thanksgiving Day. On that day, at 2:30 in the afternoon the local team will contest with the Defiance H. S. team on Bedford's grounds. The Defiance team defeated the Saxton boys in a game two weeks ago and on the basis of comparative scores they will be an equal match for Bedford.

YOUNG MAN IS BURNED TO DEATH

Last Tuesday night the home of Harry Smith of Snake Spring township caught fire and burned to the ground and the fire's fury caught Percy Bollman, aged 20 and son of William Bollman and burned him so completely that only a few of his bones could be recovered.

Mr. William Bollman's thrashing outfit had pulled up to the Smith home to thresh out his crop and young Percy had decided to stay all night with the Smith's to get the steam ready for next morning's work. One of the Smith boys and Percy had gone to bed about 9 o'clock and fell asleep. A short time after the lamp which was left burning down stairs exploded saturating the whole down stairs with oil causing the flames to overlap everything. The boys upstairs discovered the fire and young Smith leaped from upstairs window and ward is usually Percy to follow but he said "Gr herds, go down the stairs which lead" "Pse right into the flames. He stepped into burned through. Percy stepped into the smoke and risked his footing but the floor gave way, under him and he fell to the cellar, only to be strangled and consumed by the fiery flames and embers. The incident was a shock to the community as all such accidents are and the parents have the ground separately of everybody. Everything in the house was consumed and we are told that no insurance was lost on the real estate or contents of the house.

INDUSTRIAL CONCERNS OF BEDFORD COUNTY AND THEIR PROSPERITY

Bedford, Pa., Nov. 20.—Industrial concerns in Bedford county have turned out products having a value of $1,881,000 or $77,000 less than the value of 1921, according to computations made by the Bureau of Statistics and Information of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Affairs and made public today by Secretary of Internal Affairs James P. Woodward. Of the total value of Bedford county's industrial products last year, products worth $1,152,000 or 41 percent of the total were shipped to points outside of Pennsylvania for sale and distribution.

The county's industrial plants in the county last year representing 30 different kinds of industry. These establishments gave employment to 10,411 wage earners, or 245 less than in the preceding year. Of the workers last year, 1603 were Americans white, 74 were Americans colored and 264 were foreigners. There were 1819 male workers and 122 female employees. These workers were paid $1,416,800 or 6 percent less than the payroll in 1921, the male workers receiving $1,361,700 while the female employees were paid $55,100. In addition to the wage earners there were 124 salaried workers in industry who brought the total number of employees up to 2065, or 9.8 percent less than in 1921. Salaried workers received $208,500 during the year which, combined with the wages, made the total industrial payroll in the county $1,625,300 or 4.1 percent less than in 1921.

The capital invested in Bedford county's industrial plants amounted to $2,758,000 last year, or 10 percent less than in 1921. Statistics of a metal products led the county's industrial classes in the county with a value of $1,881,000 in 1922, and a products of mines and quarries stood second with a value of $1,152,000. Other industrial classes and values: building and construction, $112,000; clay, glass and pottery products, $55,500; food products, $475,000; leather and rubber goods, $725,500; textiles, $153,000; lumber and its products, $153,300; paper and allied products, $18,000; textiles and allied products, $25,000; tobacco and allied products, $25,000 and miscellaneous, $110,500.

Bedford county produced, among other things, $17,500 pounds of cotton-seed oil, 8,400 gallons of ice cream, 75,411 tons of pig iron, 15,225 tons of bituminous coal, 712 tons of sand and gravel, 128,500 cheroots and stogies and 20,466 tons of bed-lime coke.

W. C. T. U.

The Peace program presented at the monthly meeting of the Bedford W. C. T. U. on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. A. C. Blackburn was most interesting. The spirit of unity was emphasized. The attendance was the largest for the fall months.

Law Enforcement was stressed and action taken to continue the Municipal Drive for this purpose. Bedford County being determined to measure up with other counties in this respect offering for Moral Up-

World Education and World Peace are being specialized by the W. C. T. U. in their Educational Work. The public meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Reed Irvine.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE ITEMS

Monessen.—Caught under a stream of molten metal in the Pittsburgh Steel company plant here, two cranes were burned to death and another man was injured seriously. The dead are David Fitzgerald and Angelo Guerra, both of Charleroi. Fitzgerald was operating the crane and Guerra and Samuel Underwood were his helpers. They were placing a ladle when a furnace broke through before it was in position. In an effort to save his fellow-workmen, Fitzgerald tried to swing the ladle out of the way, but it struck a "table" and the men were caught under the shower of hot metal.

Pittsburgh.—The body of Claude T. Callow, of Butte, Mont., with a bullet hole in the head, was found on a playground.

Altoona.—Chemists who examined samples of ice cream in Pennsylvania found only two which were listed as unlawful this year. Director Faust, of the bureau of foods, told delegates attending the annual convention of the Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers of Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The director reported "great progress" in the bureau's drive for "purity of ice cream." Laws recently passed by the legislature governing the sale of milk, cream and ice cream are more comprehensive than the old laws, he said.

Harrisburg.—Members of the state highway patrol were sent to the state barracks at Pottsville, Butler, Greensburg and Harrisburg, after having been in camp at Mount Gretna for three months. They will continue training at the barracks until their uniforms are received.

Harrisburg.—The net gain in receipts for general fund purposes for the fiscal year beginning December 1, 1922, from the 1922 fiscal year, was $6,849,823 on November 9. Auditor General Lewis announced. The total receipts were $33,475,414, a gain of $5,337,915. In the year $2,281,688 was collected from the Pennsylvania railroad for delinquent taxes, which made a gain from ordinary and normal sources of $7,619,603. From the gross gain the auditor general deducted $709,780, the amount received in the 1923 fiscal year in account of the increase in the gasoline tax from one to two cents a gallon.

New Castle.—Mrs. Mary Farax, aged 60, a Syrian vendor of needlework, was found in the pantry of a negro boarding house, apparently strangled to death. There were no marks on the body excepting a slight discoloration about the throat. Her purse, secreted within her clothing, had been ripped open and two small change purses were lying beside her empty. She was known to have had much money with her.

Pittsburgh.—A railroad brakeman was injured seriously and 493 passengers were shaken when the Bradburn local on the Pennsylvania railroad was derailed at the south end of the Aspinwall bridge over the Allegheny river here. Brakeman George Patterson, of Blawnox, suffered a fractured skull.

New Brighton.—Wounded by the same bullet, Joseph Patulni and Clifford Wallace are in a hospital. Wallace, owner of a pool room, was shot in a leg in a fight in his establishment. The bullet, after passing through his leg, went through a door and struck Patulni, a pedestrian, in a thigh.

Wilkes-Barre.—Armed with a revolver and wearing a belt filled with cartridges, John Keto, 33, ran amuck in Nanticoke and vainly endeavored to shoot a girl whose identity is unknown to the police. He was held under $1000 bail, and in default was sent to jail.

Pittsburgh.—Louis Berez, an official of a paper company, had a premonition that his safe was not safe, so he deposited $1700 in a bank. That night burglars entered the building and knocked off the safe combination knob with a sledge hammer, but the strong-box was empty.

Burnham.—The combination high and grade school was partly destroyed by fire, causing a loss estimated at $50,000. The grade section of the building was destroyed and the high school section flooded by water. Five Lewistown fire companies responded to a call for help.

Mercer.—James M. Homer, Democratic candidate for sheriff of Mercer county in the recent election, will contest the election of W. A. Bone, Prohibition candidate, who won with a majority of twenty-five votes. Homer announced that he will base his contest on the returns from the second ward of Grove City, home of Bone. He charges that the election board in that ward failed to make returns to the county seat within the time set by the election laws. In event the vote of the ward is thrown out, Homer would be the winner by 380 votes.

Middleburg.—Harry Perdix, Jr., aged 5 years, lost two fingers and the thumb of his left hand while playing with a dynamite cap.

DuPont.—Falling beneath a moving freight train, George Strelisch, aged 16, lost his right hand.

Williamsburg.—Alfonso Vagina and Joseph Dellich, employed in limestone quarries here, were critically injured from head to foot by a premature powder explosion.

Marion.—Thomas T. Broughton sustained a broken left arm and other injuries when a steel fell and hit him at a quarry.

Sunbury.—The new $150,000 ninth ward public school was dedicated.

York.—More than 90 per cent of the depositors of the City Bank have signed up to take stock in the reorganized institution, according to a statement given out by George L. Stallman, chairman of the depositors' committee. Members of the committee are making a canvass of those who have not subscribed and the success of the reorganization is said to be assured.

Pittsburgh.—Fourteen-year-old William Underwood, an inmate of St. Paul's Orphan Asylum, died of injuries sustained when he fell from the top of a cabinet. The lad, it is said, was re-enacting a scene he witnessed in a motion picture when the accident occurred.

Bethlehem.—The building of the First Reformed church, on Fourth street, and that of the Grace Reformed mission, on Broadway, will be put on the market for sale in order to arrange for a merger of the two congregations. This decision was reached at a meeting of the consistory.

Tamaqua.—The explosion of a condenser at the gas plant here wrecked the building and shattered hundreds of windows.

Tamaqua.—Struck by an automobile while crossing a street near his home, Paul Christ, aged 5, sustained a fractured skull.

West Reading.—Irving Hoyer was robbed of $24 and so badly beaten he had to be taken to a hospital as the result of showing fight when held up by three men near his home.

Brownsville.—Local, county and state officers have joined in a search for a gang of burglars who have been operating in this district and who, within five weeks, have entered about twenty-five homes. Thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry, clothing, provisions and cash have been taken. In virtually every instance entrance was gained by prying open windows.

Pittsburgh.—A man giving the name of Robert Snyder, of Phoenixville, was fined $50, with the option of spending thirty days in jail, by Magistrate Richards, when Miss Vivian Kramer, a maid in the Hotel Henry, accused him of attacking her.

Altoona.—Most of the bituminous coal mines in central Pennsylvania are being operated but two and three days a week, owing to the dullness in the coal market. Operators say there is a large amount of distress coal in the east. This accumulates as a result of the cancelling of orders after the coal is shipped and can be purchased at a low figure because of demurrage charges. So far in November the daily loadings in the central Pennsylvania field have averaged 2275 cars, as against 2875 cars in September. Prices range from $1.75 to $3 a ton.

Harrisburg.—The identity of Sudell's Legislative Hand Book will not be lost through the purchase of the copyright by the state, Director of Publications Dietrich said. Although the reorganization code provided that in the event of the purchase of the copyright, the name was to be changed to the Pennsylvania State Manual, Governor Pinchot approved the retention of the former name.

York.—The liabilities of the William E. Duff company, machinery, adjudicated bankrupt by the United States court at Scranton, are very much tied up, as there is only $2.01 cash on hand, according to the schedule returned to William H. Kurtz, referee. The assets are $408,910.06, while the liabilities are $1,012,338.29.

Altoona.—Dispute over a crap game in a negro restaurant here resulted in J. B. Horning, Altoona, and J. H. Smith, Tyrone, both white, being shot in the legs by Thomas Overal, Washington, D. C., who is under arrest. Leroy T. Banton, colored laborer on road construction, went to the restaurant to find the man whom it was alleged was connected with the affray, and in a quarrel, was shot in the back by an unknown negro, who escaped. The wounded will recover.

Harrisburg.—Hunting accidents and careless shootings are occurring in larger numbers this year than are warranted, Seth E. Gordon, secretary of the board of game commissioners, said. He declared there was no occasion for anybody to mistake a person for a squirrel or rabbit, and said that "persons who have injured others in this way will be prosecuted to the limit under the drastic law of 1921 imposing heavy penalties and imprisonment upon hunters who shoot others in mistake for game." Gordon said the property damage law, passed in 1923, is "already bearing fruit." He cited one case in Bucks county, where a game protector arrested two men with eleven dead guineas in their possession.

Chester.—An abandoned baby girl was found on the steps of St. Michael's parish house, Edgmont avenue near Seventh street. She was well dressed, with two heavy blankets wrapped around her to prevent death from exposure. The waif was discovered by William Reynolds, who was on his way home, and it was taken to the Chester Hospital.

Uniontown.—Suddenly stricken in the office of the St. Charles Hotel here, where his son is proprietor, William C. Gregg, aged 78, fell dead.

Pittsburgh.—Willie Smith, held here for investigation in connection with the slaying of Thomas Rowland, an aged man, was released.

Sunbury.—Stricken with paralysis while seated in a chair at his home, T. Daniel Shipman, aged 58, died.

Bethlehem.—St. Peter's Lutheran church observed its sixtieth anniversary and the twenty-second anniversary of its pastor, Rev. J. O. Lieben-sperger.

HIS MAJESTY, THE TURKEY

A Thanksgiving Acquaintance

By FRANK HERBERT SWEET

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

NE year ago Charlie had come to the city to make his fortune. He was fond of farming and farm stock; but they were a slow means to wealth. He would go to the city for the fortune, and then would come back and purchase the best farm in the vicinity and have fine horses and big meadows and—envious neighbors. Now he was standing on a street corner, with hands thrust deep down into his pockets and wearing the same clothes he had brought from home. But the clothes were soiled and worn threadbare and shiny, and the shoes were unblackened, and the hat lacking part of its brim; and long ago he had discarded such extras as collars and cuffs. The fingers of one hand played idly with his last two half dollars, both of which were owed for the poor little room he rented on one of the back streets; and the other fingers touched several pawn tickets, which he had no expectation of redeeming. Indeed, he was wondering daily if there were anything else in his trunk that could be pawned. He

There Was No Prospect for a Dinner. had had no breakfast, and there was no prospect for a dinner—and this was Thanksgiving.

A few yards away, a street boy was sitting on a drygoods box, swinging his bare feet rhythmically to the tune he was whistling. But his eyes were fixed on the listless figure of his neighbor.

"Say, Country," he called, suddenly, "what you thinkin' of?"

Charlie flushed but did not answer. "Come, don't make an owl of yourself," the boy went on. "There ain't nothin' in this world to fret over. Look here," swinging his legs upon the box—"no clothes to spare, an' what there is ain't much for cold weather. An' my jacket's lost an' my shirt most of one shoulder. An' furthermore," pausing to indulge in another bar of the street ditty he was whistling, "I ain't had no breakfast, an' only a cold porter for supper last night; an' still I ain't no good to eat."

His legs swung

OLD LIVEN IMPORTANT

OLD real, original and genuine Thanksgiving dinner. Just a turkey and cranberry sauce if it is to be strictly orthodox in regard to the menu. Tradition demands this. Good linen plays a very important part in the way the table will look when set. It is always advisable to buy as good linen as you can possibly afford, for it proves a wise investment in the long run.

An embroidered monogram is a handsome finish to a good cloth, but it is less noticeable there than on the napkins which for dinner should be large and square. For embroidery the long slender letters are preferred. It is a pretty sentiment at a Thanksgiving dinner to use dishes which are heirlooms for one course.

back into space and beat a lively accompaniment to the conclusion of the tune. Then he looked at Charlie.

"Now, what's broke with you?" he demanded. "You ain't stalled, an' you got shoes on your feet."

"But I can't eat my shoes," Charlie retorted. "And the two coins I have left are to pay for my room. And—what's more, I'm out of a job. I ain't much—sweeping out offices—but it meant a roof, and something to eat."

The street boy stopped drumming and looked at him with more interest. "This sort o' bad," he acknowledged. "An' you're bein' from the country an' knowin' nothin' makes it worse. What'd you come for?"

"Why, to get rich, of course," Charlie answered. "What does anyone come to the city for?"

"Huh!" derisively, "an' here I've been lookin' ahead to goin' into the country to get rich. Say, do you have fellers like me, an' like that crowd on the sidewalk, up in your country?"

Charlie looked at him, and then at the half-dozen disreputable men who were smoking in front of a billiard-room opposite, and the two or three women sorting over an ash-barrel, and the squalid, dirty-faced children playing and fighting along the gutter, and answered with an expression of disgust:

"No, indeed!"

"Thought so. Then the country's the richest and best place." He looked at Charlie a little enviously.

"Say, you got horses an' cows an' dogs an' chickens, an' a pa an' ma, an' green grass an' fishin' up there?" he demanded.

"Of course," with eager recollection in his voice; "and miles and miles of woods where we go after chestnuts and grapes in the fall, and big ponds to skate on in the winter."

"An' you run away from them—for this?" snatching his fragment of a cap and hurling it into the gutter as expressive of his unutterable disgust. Then he stood upon the box and stretched himself to his full height, raising his hand as though to invoke a benediction.

"My son," he said, solemnly, "go home an' eat the fatted calf an' your feller's doughnuts. Tarry not. Haste to pastures new where the calves flourish as the green bay tree. If it be fifty miles, walk, an' run when you get tired; if a thousand, walk an' run an' beg, an' steal rides on freight trains—only go, as my feller tears implore. An' now—"here a paper boy, attracted by his gesticulations, darted up and tipped the box so that the orator slid ingloriously into the mud. Charlie laughed in spite of himself, then his face became grave. Beneath the lightness of the speaker's words had been an undercurrent of seriousness which appealed directly to his discouragement and homesickness. Yes, he would go home.

As the street boy rose and wiped the mud from his face, Charlie stepped up to him.

"Thank you for your advice," he said. "I'm going to take it."

"Honest?" with a ring of satisfaction in his voice. "Then, fare ye well, an' if forever—but say," as Charlie was starting down the sidewalk, "give me a tip to your barrel, an' maybe I'll come out an' spend my vacation with you next summer."

Charlie laughed, and then, on a sudden impulse, he wrote his address and gave it to the boy.

"We'd like first-rate to have you come," he said heartily, "and we'll try to give you a good time."

This seems the proper end for the story; but I want to add that the street boy did visit them the next summer, and that they gave him such a good time he concluded to remain and work for them permanently.

A PRAYER

We thank Thee, Father, for the care That did not come to try us, The burden that we did not bear, The trouble that passed by us, The task we did not fail to do, The hurt we did not cherish, The friend who did not prove untrue, The joy that did not perish.

We thank Thee for the blinding storm That did not lose its swelling, And for the sudden blight of harm That came not nigh our dwelling, We thank Thee for the dart unsped, The bitter word unspoken, The grave unmade, the tear unshed, The heart-tie still unbroken.

—Charles E. Flynn.

THANKSGIVING

While we are eating our Thanksgiving dinner let's count up the things we have to be thankful for. Ask each member of the family to help, and you will be surprised at the length of the list. It will cheer you up, too, and a cheerful frame of mind is worth more than money in the bank.

Thanksgiving

THE celebration of Thanksgiving day has a long and curious history, in which it is the province of a woman to play no inconspicuous part. The earliest aspect of the day takes us back to the chronicles of the Israelites, among whom there is mention throughout the Bible of days set apart for special thanksgiving unto the Lord. Later the custom was not uncommon in England before the Reformation, and was taken up and continued by the Protestants afterward.

Thus it was that at its inception there was no regularly appointed time for this celebration. Sometimes it would be observed once a year, sometimes twice, and then perhaps a year or two would be skipped--according as reasons for thanksgiving presented themselves or not.

Among the colonists it was customary for the president to issue a proclamation recommending that the people cease from their ordinary occupations and observe a day of thanksgiving, with proper ceremony, at some specified time, but it was usually left to the governors of the various states to determine whether there should be such a day, and when.

This irregular course and unofficial-like treatment of the observance might have continued in vogue indefinitely but for the well-directed and strenuous efforts of Mrs. Sarah J. Hale, editor of Godey's Lady Book. She realized, perhaps more forcibly than others at the time, that the celebration of Thanksgiving as then observed lacked clearness and impressiveness, which could be remedied only by the adoption of measures bringing the people to concerted participation on this occasion. Therefore she assumed and devoted herself to the task of writing to all the governors of the different states and territories, urging upon them the propriety of a national thanksgiving and suggesting the last Thursday in November as the day for such celebration. She continued to write these letters year after year, and was finally rewarded for her efforts by all the governors, excepting two, granting her request.

However, the people's response was not enthusiastic, and during the Civil war, especially in the South, the custom lagged.

Immediately after the battle of Gettysburg Mrs. Hale wrote President Lincoln, enclosing a copy of Washington's Thanksgiving proclamation, and suggesting that he also proclaim a day of national thanksgiving. The President acted upon her suggestion and issued a proclamation "for the observance of Thursday, August 30, as a day of national thanksgiving, praise and prayer."

From that time on the celebration of the day lost its local and variable character and took on the fitting dignity of a national and stable ceremony. Lincoln's successor appointed the last Thursday in November as Thanksgiving day, and the date has continued unchanged ever since.

Thanksgiving day is a legal holiday in every state, territory and possession except Utah, where it is observed, though not on the statute books.

UNSPOKEN THANKSGIVING

A sunny face is an unspoken Thanksgiving.

Not Hard to Determine.

There are usually two viewpoints of value of work--that of the worker and that of the employer. The one may overestimate as much as the other underestimates. Approximate value may be between them, and is easily determined--let the laborer be worthy of his hire.--Grit.

The Home Feast
Day

NOVEMBER has come with its festival day,
The sweetest home-feast of the year,
When the little ones mingle in frolic and play,
And share in the Thanksgiving cheer.

And let us remember that tale of the past,
Of the Pilgrims who gathered their band,
And offered up thanks for the corn when at last
It waved o'er the famishing land.

For hunger had wasted those strong, patient men
Who struggled and labored in pain,
And the blessings of plenty which gladdened them then
Gave courage and hope once again.

And the fame of their bravery never decays,
While year after year rolls away,
Since the morning that ushered in prayer and in praise
The birth of our Thanksgiving Day.

Good Time Coming for Benny.

We have often said of a certain little boy in the neighborhood whose mother is dead that his dad was both mother and father to him. The father married recently, and Sonny, on hearing the news, clapped his hands and said: "I'm so glad for Benny; he'll have a woman mother now."—Exchange

Small Matter, Anyway.

Our neighbor's wife bought some household labor-saving article from a slick-tongued salesman the other day. When her husband came home she told him about it. "What is this device for?" he asked. "Gracious," replied the wife, "the agent talked so fast I forgot to ask him."—Chicago Daily News.

Thanksgiving
in Days of Grandmother

OUR grandmothers began preparation for Thanksgiving day long before it arrived. Pickles of all sorts, apple sauce and preserves were prepared ahead of time. Mince meat was mixed that it might ripen and acquire a more delicious flavor. All the vegetables were ready for the pot on Wednesday night, the chickens or turkey were stuffed, the puddings and pies were prepared and there was nothing to do on Thanksgiving day but cook the dinner.

Garnishes and Turkey Stuffing.

Oysters belong to Thanksgiving, according to tradition, because friendly Indians who joined the early celebrations brought gifts of shellfish. A garnish of fried oysters is tasty and appropriate to surround the turkey, or a dish of scalloped oysters may accompany the turkey, or an oyster cocktail or oyster soup may be served before the turkey, or may be molded in a thin layer of jelly, which should be cut out with a fancy cutter so that the oyster appears in the center of a tomato or aspic jelly, and is laid on tender lettuce leaves with mayonnaise placed beside it.

A cupful of chopped peanuts blended with two cupfuls of coarse bread crumbs or cracker crumbs and seasoning is a fine stuffing for the turkey.

To prepare chestnuts for a stuffing, first gash the shell, brush the nuts over with beef drippings and put in the oven for a few minutes. When heated, shell and skin are easily removed. Cut the nuts in small pieces, then add them to an ordinary bread mixture, or they may be put through a potato ricer, seasoned and used alone.

Sausage croquettes are good for a turkey garnish. Buy one pound of sausage meat, add to it one cupful of soft bread crumbs, form into balls the size of English walnuts, dip in beaten egg, roll in bread crumbs and fry in deep hot fat.

Cranberries With Turkey.

Left-over turkey, especially the white meat, may be cut in cubes and blended with enough warm cranberry jelly, not too sweet, to hold it in shape when cold.

The combination of cranberries and raisins, popularly known as mock cherry, is good for a pie filling or as a conserve. The proportion is half as many raisins as cranberries and both should be cut in halves.

Old-fashioned Cranberry Dumplings.—Prepare a cranberry sauce from one quart of cranberries, one and one-half cupfuls of water and two cupfuls of sugar. Make up a biscuit dough with two cupfuls of flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of sugar and three-fourths of a cupful of milk. Shape the dough into rounds and steam them for twelve minutes. Serve with the cranberry sauce, accompanied by a hard sauce made of brown sugar and butter.

Cranberry Punch.—Cook one quart of cranberries in three cupfuls of water until soft, then press through a sieve. Add two and one-half cupfuls of sugar and the juice of two lemons, and stand on ice for about four hours to chill. Serve in glasses with maraschino cherries or candied cranberries.

Menus to Choose.

Yellow is the Thanksgiving color, just as red belongs to Christmas. A pumpkin fruit basket is effective to use as a centerpiece, and small pumpkins, or gourds, may serve as candlesticks or be shaped in basket form to be filled with nuts and raisins at each plate.

Twin Brother to T. B.

Cause of Cattle Loss

"The twin brother to tuberculosis" is one of the names given by veterinarians to a fatal disease which causes havoc in any herd where it gains entrance.

This disease, also called John's disease, and resembling tuberculosis somewhat in symptoms and effects, is not a new one but has often been confused with tuberculosis, so has but recently been credited with the seriousness that it deserves. Herds in dairy states are menaced if this twin brother to T. B. once gets its hold on a dairy animal.

"It is believed that once John's disease gets under way in the animal death is certain to result from it," says B. A. Beach, veterinarian at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture. "The annual loss in Wisconsin so far reported may run as high as 12 per cent in badly infected herds. The disease is a contagious one and purchase from an infected herd is usually the origin of the trouble in other herds."

"Another bad feature of this disease is that it generally affects only young heifers. Because of this tendency to affect the most valuable stock and because its spread is so rapid, this disease is worse than tuberculosis."

Symptoms of John's disease show about six months after the germs of infection gain entrance to the body. Immediately after calving is when the infected animals are most apt to show the symptoms.

Infected animals lose flesh rapidly so that they become mere walking skeletons. Diarrhea occurs at intervals and the milk flow is greatly reduced and finally stops. The disease, which is contracted through the mouth in feeding yards, can be detected by the Johnin test, which according to Mr. Hastings, head of the bacteriology department at the experiment station, is similar to the tuberculosis test.

"That much can be done," says Mr. Hastings, "through the use of this test, to decrease the spread of this disease in a herd has been demonstrated in Denmark. Prompt removal and isolation of all animals reacting to the test is the only prevention."

Complete descriptions of the symptoms and effects of the disease and methods of detection and prevention of its spread in dairy herds are given in bulletin 343 issued by the agricultural station, Madison, Wis.

Economical Hog Ration

Given by Ohio Station

In a bulletin recently published by the Ohio experiment station on "supplements to corn for fattening swine," some figures were given on the various amounts of feed required to produce 100 pounds of gain. The pigs used were pure breeds, weighing about 82 pounds each, and were fed in dry lots by means of self-feeders. One lot was fed corn and tankage at the rate of 12 parts corn to one part tankage. Figuring corn at 40 cents a bushel and tankage at $3 a hundred, it cost $2.91 for each 100 pounds of gain. Another lot was fed one part corn to two parts skim milk. Figuring on the same price for corn, the feeding value of the skim milk amounted to only $1.15, or 18.7 cents per cwt., as compared with tankage in feeding value. This does not mean that tankage is always more economical than skim milk. For young pigs skim milk is superior to tankage. However, if there is not enough milk produced on the farm for feeding purposes, it is more economical to buy tankage than skim milk.

Making Most Rapid and

Economical Pork Gains

Too many people think that all that is necessary to fatten a hog is to give him all the corn he wants. This system requires more time and greater cost than when fed a balanced ration. Experiments and practical experience have shown that the most rapid and economical gains are made when corn is supplemented with some feed rich in animal protein.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

If a sow farrows during severe weather artificial heat may be needed for the farrowing pen.

The silo saves labor; cattle can be fed easily and quickly from the silo which is close at hand and always in a feeding condition.

A combined hay and cattle barn makes an economical arrangement for many farms. Make the hay door for your barn less than 8 feet wide and 12 feet high. Slings will go through this.

Sheep require salt and it should be available at all times, for an irregular supply induces overeating of the salt, which causes scours. Rather than limiting the supply of salt or of mixing it with their feed, it is best to let sheep eat as much as they wish.

Steers fed succulent feeds usually sell 15 cents to 25 cents per hundred-weight higher on the market in addition to making larger gains. Cost must be considered, however, in buying succulent feeds, as water has no feed value of its own.

REPORT OF GRAND JURY

To the Honorable the Judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions of Bedford County.

The Grand Jury, directed by your Honorable Court, to inspect and report on the County Almshouse and the County Jail, on the 14th day of November, 1923, the Grand Jury, on the day and date aforesaid, submitted the undersigned, Chairman of the Grand Jury, to respectfully report and return.

That the general condition of the almshouse and the county farm is good. During recent years the buildings have been brought up to an excellent state of repairs, and necessary new buildings, including a tile and cement silo and tile and cement smoke house, have been added. These are now being coated with paint. The interior of the almshouse and the hospital is clean and sanitary. The inmates seem to be happy and contented. The place seems to be as homelike as it can be made. The farm presents a well kept and productive appearance. Very large crops along all lines of general farming have been produced this year. The farm is well stocked with fine cattle. We are unable to make any suggestions which will improve conditions at the almshouse, and we commend the management which has brought about the improved conditions now existing, however, with the exception of some road repairs which have been recently made, the township road from Bedford to the County Home is not good. If a permanent road cannot be built, this road should be improved, and Bedford County can well afford to aid in reducing almshouse expenses by having some action taken to better these road conditions. Inspection of the County Jail shows it to be in good sanitary condition. Repairs designed to prevent easy escape of prisoners have been recently made and the bars sawed off by prisoners have been secured. Respectfully submitted,
R. C. Brown, Foreman.

Thanksgiving —Then and Now

IN THESE days of rush and rustle, the advent of Thanksgiving serves most of all to remind us of what wondrous changes time has wrought. The Thanksgivings of our fathers and those of today are no more alike than the minuet and the fox trot, the dances that well typify the era of the present and the past. About the only thing left to us from out of the old days is the Thanksgiving turkey, and even this bird is not now held sacred and necessary for this festival.

The very mention of the word Thanksgiving brings to the mind a picture that modern conditions have turned to the wall. It is a picture of the time when life was simple in its pleasures and robust in its strength; when people were really folks; when the race and rivalry of life did not extend their office hours over the entire day. That state of things has now passed away. It has followed in the wake and the trail of the pioneers and the other figures of the American national life that was but is not.

In the old days there were tippets and mittens, things that hang in memory's closet on the same nail as the high stock, men's shawls and daguerrotypes. Gone are the marvelous tippets that went round and round the neck until a person was swathed like a mummy of ancient Egypt. Gone, too, are the mittens knit at home in colors of sunset and sunrise blue, those cozy ancestors of gloves. As for the bootjack, in these days of luxury and ready-made shoes it is as unknown as any creature of the prehistoric age.

No longer does Thanksgiving bring the real mince pie, that culinary triumph of every well-regulated household, with its wonderful fruity flavor, that cunningly combined the qualities of solidity and crispness, a pie that even if dangerous to health made a danger well worth facing and putting down. Compared with the bakery-built substitute of today the mince pie of those days was a vintage pie, as far above its modern rival as a vintage wine is above the grocery wine for cooking use. Its existence was a splendid testimonial to the physical traits of the men and women of the era in which it flourished.

Even the plum pudding, that carnival of richness, is disappearing from the stage. It is giving way to ice cream, that mollicoddle of digestion that invites to slow eating and deliberate enjoyment.

The Thanksgiving stage is now set with new scenes and new characters. There is the cabaret and terrapin, and football and the theater. There is the social function in place of the family festival; and in the evening hours the elaborate entertainment in the gilded ballroom, in place of the homely dance to the strains of the fiddle and the bow and the ministrations of the merry, squeaking fiddler. Truly, the coming of this holiday and its observance well measures the distance that the nation has gone from its life and its habits in the days when Thanksgiving day was young.

A Wife for Seven Pigs.

Wives in New Guinea have a miserable time. It is true they have a high value—sometimes as many as seven pigs are paid for a wife. But the wives are badly treated and often are killed for minor offenses. Yet, strange to say, in New Guinea it is usually the girl who proposes marriage.

ADDITIONS TO LAND AND BUILDINGS OF THE BELL SYSTEM IN PENNSYLVANIA 1919-1923

A Train Sixty Miles Long

We're adding to the Bell System in Pennsylvania this year $6,300,000 in new land and buildings.

And in 1924 we expect that the requirements will call for nearly eight millions more.

Into these and our other buildings and along the wire-ways of the state, we're installing in 1923 new telephone equipment which would require a train sixty miles long to haul.

In starting this train, the locomotive would travel a half a mile before the caboose was in motion.

This enormous amount of new switchboards, new cable, poles, wire and thousands of other necessary materials will be added to the Bell System in this state this year. More than thirty millions of dollars will be spent to meet the telephone demand in Pennsylvania.

Never before have such enormous quantities been added in so short a time.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 25

CHRISTIANS CALLED TO BE MISSIONARIES

LESSON TEXT—John 17:18, Matt. 28:16-20, Acts 1:6-8.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Go ye therefore and teach all nations."—Matt. 28:19.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Telling Everyone About Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Our Marching Orders.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Working Together With Christ.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—World-Wide Witnessing for Christ.

I. Sent by Christ (John 17:18).
Christ was sent into the world to save it. Just as He was sent, so He sends us. Just as He was obedient to the Father's command, so we should be to His command. That this might be possible Christ set apart Himself, and that the disciples might be fit for this work they are to be sanctified through the truth of God's Word. That which fits the one called to represent Christ is the knowledge of God's holy Word.

II. The Great Commission (Matt. 28:16-20).

At an appointed meeting place in Galilee on a mountain side, Jesus appeared before the disciples and gave this great commission.

1. His Claim of Authority (v. 18). He does not claim to be merely the King of the Jews, but King of Kings and Lord of Lords. He stands clothed with the authority and power of the universe. Before there will be any great concern about evangelizing the world there must be an understanding of the power and might of Jesus Christ as Lord. The Lord must and shall be obeyed.

2. The Obligation Imposed (vv. 19, 20). They are to make disciples of all nations. The obligation of the Christian is not merely to preach the gospel to the Jews, but to all the nations. Those who accept Christ as Savior and Lord are to be baptized in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost. By this means they openly acknowledge their allegiance to Jesus Christ as their divine Lord. To secure public avowal of loyalty to Christ is important. It strengthens the character of the confessor. They are also to be instructed to render obedience to all the commandments and requirements of the divine Lord.

3. The Divine Presence Promised (v. 20). To assure the disciples of the success of their undertaking, Jesus guarantees His presence at all times and under all circumstances. That which gives courage and encouragement to the missionary today is the assurance of the unfailing promise of the Lord Jesus Christ.

III. The Missionary Program (Acts 1:6-8).

It is essential that the missionary program be understood. The work incumbent upon the church is to witness of Christ's glorious salvation to all the nations. After this is done there will follow the preaching of the gospel of the kingdom by converted Israelites. This was not clear to the disciples, therefore they put the question, "Wilt thou at this time restore the kingdom of Israel?" They were right in thinking that the kingdom will be restored. The Davidic kingdom shall be established, but not till after the gospel of the grace of God is preached and the body of Christ is completed. Its realization is certain, but the time is unknown. Times and seasons are in the hands of God. The program which the disciples are to carry out in the present time is witnessing for Christ.

1. In Jerusalem (v. 8). This was done by the Twelve immediately following Pentecost.

2. In Judea and Samaria (v. 9). This was done by the disciples after the hands of the persecutors were laid on them. Not only the Twelve but many others took part in this.

3. Unto the Uttermost Parts of the Earth. Beginning with the first foreign missionary enterprise this work has been carried on with varying degrees of success till the present time.

Being Self-Centered.

Nothing is more wearing or a more fruitful source of unhappiness in the long run than to be self-centered. If our thoughts and plans, our hopes and fears, our ideals and ambitions all center in our own personal comfort and happiness, there must come many a day of infinite weariness and self-disgust when life does not seem worth living. Poverty or riches have very little to do with it. You will find just as many well-to-do people as poor, for whom life has lost its spice and enthusiasm. It is not a question of capital, but of character.

No Place Sweeter Than Home.

It is very dangerous for any man to find any spot on this broad globe that is sweeter to him than his home.—H. W. Beecher.

A Mind in Health.

The first sure symptom of a mind in health is rest of heart, and pleasure in home.—Young.

God Should Be There.

A cottage, if God be there, will hold more happiness as might be seen.—J. Hamilton.

SAXTON

Miss Amelia Hess, of East Saxton and Walter Leonard were united in marriage on last Friday evening by Rev. J. C. Whitner of the Church of God at the former's home. Mr. Leonard is employed at the Broad Top shops as a machinist helper. The bride was an assistant to Dr. Thomas.

Mrs. Emma Timmer and husband and young son returned in spirit the week end at the home of Edward Clark in Stonerstown.

The ante society of the Reformed church will hold a turkey dinner in the social room of their church on Thanksgiving day. This is an annual event for this society and is looked forward to by a goodly number of their friends.

The annual Thanksgiving service will be held on Thursday evening at 7:30 P. M. in the Methodist church. A week since that broke into the garage and stole Dr. Miller's Ford. The doctor sent the alarm out and after a short hunt it was found at home on Milton Street. No damage was done to the car, however. The doctor was glad he recovered it.

Mrs. Harry Hoffman and daughter Nola and Floyd Hurst were business visitors in Altoona on Saturday. Misses Edith and Ella Dickinson spent Sunday in Riddiesburg.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hoffman and family spent Sunday in Everett.

Mrs. Emma Neary is very low at this writing.

Saturday the Bedford football team came to Saxton and played the Saxton boys in one of the hardest games of the season. Saxton was defeated, the score being 19-7.

Misses Florence Steele and Hilda Abbott who are attending Shippensburg State Normal school spent the week end at their homes in Saxton.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Evans and son Bobbie spent Thursday evening at the home of Edward Dickinson in Riddiesburg.

Mr. Harry Potter and wife of N. Y. are visiting at the home of the former's father Mr. Frank Potter.

Mrs. Martha Burnside went to Homewell last Sunday for the purpose of taking treatment from Dr. Cokes of that place for asthma.

The Saxton Motor Co. is making some repairs in their building which when done will give them a private office and display room.

The Lincoln Literary Society of the Liberty Central High School will hold a Thanksgiving programme on Wednesday, Nov. 28 in the High School Building.

Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Abbott and family and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. and Mrs. John Moore motored to Altoona on Sunday.

Mrs. Wimer, Messrs. Cloyd Cunningham and Victor McCahan were guests for dinner Sunday at the home of Mrs. Hazel Stinson.

CUMBERLAND VALLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Weimer and children Blair and Helen, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bennett and son Donald all of Chanesville visited at Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Oster Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Diehl of Friends Cove and Mr. and Mrs. Susie Stayer, of Pleasant Valley visited at Mr. Jane Gepharts.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Bruner spent Sunday with William Smith.

Mrs. Jennie Diehl of Bedford is taking care of Martha Tewell.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wertz are the proud parents of a boy baby.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hite are the proud parents of a young daughter.

Mr. V. C. Nave has his hand poisoned in his left arm at the present time.

Mr. Christy Elder who broke his foot some time ago is improving nicely.

Mr. Thomas Hite who sprained the ligaments in his leg is not improving very much.

The four Nave Brothers as follows Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Nave, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Nave and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Nave spent Sunday at the home of their brother Mr. C. C. Nave.

Rev. C. M. McKittrick is holding his meeting at the Fellowship Church this week.

Mr. B. C. Cesana is also on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Shaffer and son George and Edw. D. Demer of Bedford Mills visited friends here last week.

FISHERTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Elias Packburn spent the week end at Grapian attending the friends' meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Ren Feight of Davisville spent the week end at the home of Sherman Hoover.

Joseph Penrose spent last week with friends in Swiftvale, Pittsburg and Cresson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Walter, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Miller attended State Grange held in Pittsburgh last week. John Russell has gone to Cumberland where he has secured employment.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wolfe and Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Backheimer were Bedford visitors Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Gower have returned to their home in St. Cloud, Minn., after a few weeks visit at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Gower.

Aquila Allen and brother of Johnstown spent a day recently at the home of Mrs. Annie Allen.

Last Tuesday evening a friend and neighbors tendered a luncheon shower to Mrs. Dorothy H. Smith. She received many useful presents.
